

Heritage Makers

Heritage Makers is honored to partner with the NILMDTS organization and its affiliated photographers in the important work of assisting families who have suffered an early infant loss.

It is interesting to note the common ground shared by Now I Lay Me Down To Sleep and Heritage Makers. Founded within months of each other in neighboring states, both organizations are committed to helping people preserve important family legacies. Both groups accomplish their work through a dedicated network of independent entrepreneurs. And, in a way, you could say we both share a common mission – helping people celebrate life.

The Personal Publishing Consultants of Heritage Makers are anxious to donate their expertise to families who have received the gift of professional photography by helping them publish a lasting tribute to an important family member. Each family will receive a free Heritage Makers account and a publishing credit for our most popular product — an 8” x 8” archival quality, personalized storybook. NILMDTS families will receive the credit for the book, as well as the services of a Heritage Makers Consultant to help them design and publish the book at no charge. The attached flyer will clarify redemption procedures and other pertinent details. This may be a limited time offer. Please ensure all sessions are LOGGED to ensure the families receive this gift from Heritage Makers.

If you would like to be linked with a Heritage Makers consultant in your area, please go to the following link and fill out the form. You will then be matched with a knowledgeable representative who can assist the family with all phases of the book publishing process.

More information about Heritage Makers...

Heritage Makers was founded on a vision of helping people capture and celebrate the stories of their lives. Our mission is to help families preserve, honor, and strengthen relationships through a powerful online publishing program called Studio.

Using free Studio software, customers can upload their photos to a secure storage site, and then access professionally designed templates to create personalized storybooks and other print projects. When you combine your favorite photos with the stories behind them, the result is a lasting legacy and a part of the family heritage.
