

International Wave of Light

Fall Virtual Walk
International Wave of Light
October 15, 2023

October is Pregnancy and Infant Loss Awareness. On October 15, bereaved families unite across the globe in honor of their babies for the International Wave of Light. On this day, at 7:00 p.m. in time zones across the world, candles are lit for all the babies that are being honored.

NILMDTS will hold a Virtual NILMDTS Remembrance Walk the same day as the International Wave of Light and light candles. As medical providers and facilities who have cared for these families, we ask you to join us. You can do this as part of an event you typically hold. Or, you can begin offering an event at your facility to honor the babies you have cared for and then further support bereaved families.
